General information on the Council's Veterinary Service.

Veterinary Service

Donegal County Council Veterinary Service provides a statutory advisory and administrative role at Local Government level on matters related to veterinary public health, responsible animal ownership and responsible animal management.

Veterinary Service works on matters directly related to:

- Food Safety
- Active /Passive Surveillance
- Zoonotic Disease Prevention/Control
- Environmental risk assessment
- Planning and development
- Waste disposal and waste treatment
- Animal welfare

The role of the Veterinary Section in promoting responsible animal ownership and in the enforcement of animal control legislation is important in the context of improving people's living and working environment.
