

Can I place a mobile home, log cabin or pod on my property?

There are exemptions in place for domestic sheds and garages. Placing a structure on any site for living or commercial purposes requires planning permission. It is strongly recommended that you seek advice prior to investing in or placing any such structure on your property.