I wish to object to the proposed siting of windmills on St John's Point, an area of outstanding natural beauty.

The proposal to erect windmills in one of the most beautiful peninsulas in the country, famed for its flora and fauna, its karst limestone, home to a protected butterfly which is already under threat worldwide, is unconscionable.

Tourists and nature lovers visit here for the peace and serenity, the flora and fauna, the limestone rock and the wild nature of the locality not to hear turbines whirring or see mass concrete covering the magnificent limestone formations.

[REDACTED] I urge the council to rethink this proposal. This area is a protected conservation area and as such requires TLC in abundance.

Yours sincerely,

Michael Kennealy
