Description of Medal.

SOLID GOLD—Suspended from solid gold bar by silk tricolour ribbon.

DESIGN (Front)—Gárda Síochána Badge. Four panels; top panel bears the inscription, "Scott Medal"; the lower panel, "For Valor"; on the left and right are the American Eagle and the Irish Harp and Sunburst. On the back of the medal are represented the Arms of the Four Provinces, with the inscription, "Gárda Síochána na h-Eireann." (Designed by Mr. T. E. Maxwell, Dublin.)

The Donor also graciously presented a 1,000 Dollar Gold Bond, the interest from which is to provide a Gold Medal for each year in perpetuity, and in addition, in 1925, he presented further funds sufficient to defray the cost of additional medals each year.

The medals are awarded annually to the members of An Gárda who, in the opinion of the Commissioner, perform the greatest individual acts of valour during each year.

The first Gold Medal was struck for the year 1923, and in respect of the following years Medals were awarded as follows:

It should be possible for each member of An Garda—knowing the amount of his pay and allowances—to calculate the amount of Income Tax payable by him each year. For this purpose the following notes may be of assistance.

1. Relief in respect of payments for insurance against expenses of sickness. A deduction in calculating total income may be claimed for a payment made in the year preceding the year of assessment by an individual, or his wife, to an authorised insurer under a contract of insurance which provides specifically for the reimbursement or discharge of actual medical, surgical or nursing expenses (including the cost of maintenance at a hospital, nursing home or sanatorium). If the payment covers benefits in addition to those mentioned a deduction may be claimed only in respect of so much of the payment as is referable to the reimbursement or discharge of actual medical etc. expenses.

An "authorised insurer" means any person lawfully carrying on in the State insurance business of the type mentioned above.

2. Exemption from tax may be claimed where the total income of the individual does not exceed £240. (Marginal relief may be allowable where the total income exceeds £240. This relief operates to reduce the tax which would otherwise be payable in respect of the total income to three-fifths of the amount by which the total income exceeds £240).

3. Where the individual is not totally exempt (see paragraph 2) the deductions mentioned in paragraphs 4 to 11 may be claimed from the total income in order to arrive at the "taxable income," i.e., that part of the income upon which tax is actually charged.

4. Earned Income Allowance. A deduction equal to one fourth of the first £800 and one-fifth of the balance of the net earned income, subject to a maximum deduction of £400 in the case of any individual.

5. Age Allowance. A deduction equal to one-fourth of the net income other than earned income when either the claimant, or, in the case of a married man, his wife living with him, is 65 years of age or more before 6th April, 1956 and the total statutory income does not exceed £600.

(Where the total income exceeds £600, the tax payable on the total income will be reduced, where necessary, so as not to exceed a sum equal to the total of (i) the amount of tax which would have been payable if the total income had been just £600, and (ii) one-half of the amount by which the total income exceeds £600).

6. Personal Allowance. In the case of a single person £150 or in the case of a widower or widow £175 or in the case of a married man whose wife is living with him or is wholly maintained by him £300.

7. Wife's Earned Income. Where the claimant's total income includes any earned income of his wife, an additional allowance of nine-tenths of the amount of such earned income (subject to a maximum additional allowance of £45).

8. Deduction for a Widower's Housekeeper. A deduction of £100 under certain conditions to a widower who has living with him a female relative of his or of his deceased wife, for the purpose of having the charge and care of any child or adopted child of his, in respect of whom the deduction for children is given. (See paragraph 10). If the Widower proves that he has no such female relative who is able or willing to take such charge, the same deduction in respect of some other female person employed for that purpose.

9. Deduction in respect of Widowed Mother, etc., taking charge of children. A deduction of £100, under certain conditions to an unmarried person who has living with him, and maintains at his own expense, either his mother (being a widow or living apart from her husband) or some other female relative for the purpose of having the charge and care of any brother or sister of his in respect of whom the deduction for children is given. (See paragraph 10).

10. Deduction for Children. A deduction in respect of any child, step-child or adopted child living on the 6th April, 1956, who (i) was under the age of 16 years on that date, or (ii) if over the age of 16 years on that date was receiving full-time instruction at any university, college, school or other educational establishment. ("Adopted child" means, for this purpose, a child of whom the claimant has the custody and whom he or she maintains at his or her own expense.) The deduction allowable is £100 for each child. The deduction of £100 is also obtainable in respect of a child or step-child living at any time during the year commencing on the 6th April, 1956, and born after that date.

No deduction is, however, allowable in respect of any child or adopted child who is entitled in his or her own right to an income which exceeds £60 a year after excluding any income from a scholarship, bursary, or other similar educational endowment, and any income which, under the provisions of the Income Tax Acts, is treated as income of a donor or of a settlor.

11. Deduction in respect of Dependent Relatives. A deduction of £50 in respect of (i) a relative (of the claimant or of his wife) incapacitated by old age or infirmity, (ii) widowed mother (of the claimant or of his wife) whether incapacitated or not or (iii) son or daughter upon whose services the claimant depends by reason of old age or infirmity, where the said relative, widowed mother, son or daughter, is maintained by the claimant. No deduction is allowable under (i) or (ii) if the income of the dependent relative exceeds £80 a year.

12. Rates of Tax Chargeable on Taxable Income. The first £100 of the taxable income of an individual is chargeable

13. Relief in respect of Life Assurance Premiums. An allowance of tax may be claimed in respect of (1) premiums paid by the claimant for life assurance or, in certain circumstances for a deferred annuity on his own life or on that of his wife (or similar premiums paid by a wife out of her separate income); (2) sums deducted, from his salary, under any Act or under the conditions of his employment, for a deferred annuity to his widow or for provision for his children after his death. The allowance will be calculated at a rate of tax dependent on the amount of the claimant's taxable income, or, in certain circumstances, on the amount of his total income. In the case of premiums paid on policies or contracts made after 21st May, 1953, with an insurance company or friendly society registered and managed and controlled in the State the relief will not exceed two-thirds of the standard rate of tax and in the case of any other premiums or payments it will, normally, not exceed half the standard rate of tax.

The allowance is subject to the following limitations among others:—

- (a) the total amount on which the allowance is calculated is not to exceed one-sixth of the claimant's total income for the year of claim.
- (b) In the case of any policy securing a capital sum on death (whether in conjunction with any other benefit or not), the amount of premium in respect of which allowance is to be made is not to exceed 7 per cent. of that capital sum, exclusive of any additional benefit by way of bonus or otherwise.

The allowance will be deducted from the amount of tax arrived at under paragraph (12).

The Gárda Síochána are as fine a group of physical specimens as anyone could wish to see. But they are not all identical in measurements. Very few are exactly stock size. They need clothes tailored to fit and made to give years of good looking wear. Lee Brothers specialise in well-built clothes for well-built men.

EXPLANATION.—To find the day of the week answering to May 4, 1948.—Above 1948 in the left-hand table, is found the Dominical or Sunday Letter C; and over C, contiguous to May, in the right-hand table, is the figure 2, the date of Sunday, the 4th, therefore, is Tuesday. The converse of this operation, namely, to find the day of the month corresponding to the day of the week, is too evident to require illustration.

The months January and February. It will be observed, are to be referred to separately in leap years; such years may be known by a blank space always preceding them in the left-hand table.

DUBLIN SOCIETY for PREVENTION of CRUELTY to ANIMALS

The above Society is always ready to assist in cases for the protection of animals.

In Dublin the services of the Society's Veterinary Surgeons, Messrs. Murphy & Jennings, M.R.C.V.S., 28 Dartmouth Road, Ranelagh, are at the disposal of the Civic Guards when required to prove a case of cruelty, or to certify an injured or ownerless animal for destruction.

The Dogs' and Cats' Home, Grand Canal Quay, Dublin, which is owned by the Society, takes in strayed and unwanted dogs and cats. Telephone Dublin 72567.

In country districts of Eire, where there is no local S.P.C.A., the Dublin Society has given an undertaking that they will pay the fee of a Veterinary Surgeon when called in by the Civic Guards to examine a case of cruelty or to destroy an injured or ownerless animal, provided it cannot be recovered from the owner.

The provision of a humane killer or a lethal box will also be considered on application to the Society.

You need protection too!

Members of the Garda have a duty to protect themselves as well as others. Your house, and your precious possessions are exposed to many risks which can be covered simply and inexpensively by comprehensive insurance.

The great virtue of the General Householder's Policy, is that if—by care or good fortune, or a combination of both—you have no claims, you are INSURED FREE every sixth year. Already, insurance to the value of over a million pounds has been received by "General" policyholders in this way.

"General" office for full details.*

Walking up Trees!

THE climbing of the Coco-nut Palm does not daunt the agile natives of the Tropics. They simply throw a loop of rope around themselves and the palm and up they go, hitching the loop at each step.

Attaining heights of a hundred feet, these trees yield the fibre so necessary in the making of domestic brushes.

Still They Come—Unsolicited

A MOTHER writes:—"Thanks for giving me the name of your Agent."
A CUSTOMER states:—"Your 'Set-On Healing' Ointment is nothing short of the latest miracle."

"I had a wound on my leg for months and could not get it healed until a friend gave me a small tin of your Ointment to try, and after a few dressings the wound dried and a new skin grew."

It is marvellous, and I think it would grow skin on a post."

A Member of an Ambulance Corps in a Large Factory in Dublin writes:

"It is the most marvellous Healer I have so far come across. Where can it be purchased near here?"

When you send out 4,000,000 bills a year

... it calls for efficient organisation. The E.S.B. system requires the preparation and despatch of 4 million accounts a year to its customers. There are many millions of items in these 4 million bills. They vary from those for the householder with two lights to the manufacturer with 5,000 horsepower of plant. Good forward planning; the utilisation of the most modern techniques; the employment of fully trained capable staff — these are the factors which make for efficiency in this gigantic task; the factors which keep costs down; the factors which keep electricity cheap.

DESIGN (Front)—Gárda Síochána Badge. Four panels; top panel bears the inscription, "Scott Medal"; the lower panel, "For Valor"; on the left and right are the American Eagle and the Irish Harp and Sunburst. On the back of the medal are represented the Arms of the Four Provinces, with the inscription, "Gárda Síochána na h-Éireann." (Designed by Mr. T. E. Maxwell, Dublin.)

The Donor also graciously presented a 1,000 Dollar Gold Bond, the interest from which is to provide a Gold Medal for each year in perpetuity, and in addition, in 1925, he presented further funds sufficient to defray the cost of additional medals each year.

The medals are awarded annually to the members of An Garda who, in the opinion of the Commissioner, perform the greatest individual acts of valour during each year.

The first Gold Medal was struck for the year 1923, and in respect of the following years Medals were awarded as follows.

The income of all members of An Garda Síochána is liable to assessment for Income Tax, and consequently each member of An Garda must furnish, early in the financial year, a declaration of his total income (including, in the case of a married man, the income, if any, of his wife) from all sources, and claim the relief to which he is entitled. For this purpose either Form No. 12 or Foirm Uimh. 11 (Gaeilge) will be issued each year. It is essential that the Reg. No. or Divisional No. should be inserted on the form.

Children's allowances payable under the Social Welfare (Children's Allowances) Acts, 1944 to 1952, are not subject to Income Tax and need not be included in the return of total income.

It should be possible for each member of An Garda—knowing the amount of his pay and allowances—to calculate the amount of Income Tax payable by him each year. For this purpose the following notes may be of assistance.

1. Relief in respect of payments for insurance against expenses of sickness. A deduction in calculating total income may be claimed for a payment made in the year preceding the year of assessment by an individual, or his wife, to an authorised insurer under a contract of insurance which provides specifically for the reimbursement or discharge of actual medical, surgical or nursing expenses (including the cost of maintenance at a hospital, nursing home or sanatorium). If the payment covers benefits in addition to those mentioned a deduction may be claimed only in respect of so much of the payment as is referable to the reimbursement or discharge of actual medical etc. expenses.

Note—Unreimbursed Medical Expenses: An explanatory leaflet on the income tax relief which may be claimed in respect of such expenses in excess of £50, defrayed in the year ended April 5, 1968, together with a form on which the claim may be made can be obtained on application to the Inspector of Taxes.

An "authorised insurer" means any person lawfully carrying on in the State insurance business of the type mentioned above.

2. Exemption from tax may be claimed where the total income of the individual does not exceed £240. (Marginal relief may be allowable where the total income exceeds £240. This relief operates to reduce the tax which would otherwise be payable in respect of the total income to three-fifths of the amount by which the total income exceeds £240).

3. Where the individual is not totally exempt (see paragraph 2) the deductions mentioned in paragraphs 4 to 11 may be claimed from the total income in order to arrive at the "taxable income", i.e., that part of the income upon which tax is actually charged.

4. Earned Income Allowance. A deduction equal to one-fourth of earned income, subject to a maximum allowance of £500.

5. Age Allowance. A deduction equal to one-fourth of the net income other than earned income when either the claimant, or, in the case of a married man, his wife living with him, is 65 years of age or more before 6th April, 1968, subject to maximum allowance of £150 and the further condition that the aggregate of Earned Income Allowance and Age Allowance may not exceed £500.

6. Personal Allowance. In the case of a single person £234 or in the case of a widower or widow £259 or in the case of a married man whose wife is living with him or is wholly maintained by him £394.

7. Wife's Earned Income. Where the claimant's total income includes any earned income of his wife, an additional allowance of three-fourths of the amount of such earned income (subject to a maximum additional allowance of £45).

8. Allowance to Widow, Widower, Married Man not entitled to the Married Personal allowance or Married Woman who is not living with her husband and who, throughout the year of assessment, is in full-time employment or engaged full-time in some trade or profession. An allowance of £100 may be claimed in respect of a female relative who resides with the claimant for the purpose of having the charge and care of any child for whom the claimant is entitled to child allowance. If no such relative is able or willing to take such charge, the same allowance may be claimed in respect of some other female person employed by the claimant for that purpose.

9. Allowance to Unmarried Person. An allowance of £100 may also be claimed by an unmarried person who has living with him and maintains at his own expense his mother (being a widow or living apart from her husband) or some other female relative for the purpose of having the charge and care of any brother or sister of his in respect of whom he is entitled to child allowance. (See paragraph 10).

10. Deduction for Children. A deduction may be claimed in respect of any child, step-child or legally adopted child who is living and under the age of 16 years at any time within the year ending 5th April, 1968, or who, if over 16 on 6th April, 1967, is receiving full-time instruction at any university, college, school, or other educational establishment or is undergoing training by any person for any trade, profession or vocation in such circumstances that the child is required to devote the whole of his time to the training for a period of not less than two years. The deduction may also be claimed in certain circumstances in respect of a child not legally adopted of whom the individual has the custody and whom he or she maintains at his or her own expense.

The amount of the deduction is £135 or if the child is over eleven years on 6th April, 1967, £150.

No deduction is, however, due in respect of any child who is entitled in his or her own right to an income which exceeds £80 a year (including, for example, holiday earnings) after excluding any income from a scholarship, bursary, or other similar educational endowment, and any income which, under the provisions of the Income Tax Acts, is treated as income of a donor or of a settlor.

11. Deduction in respect of Dependent Relatives. A deduction of £60 in respect of (i) a relative (of the claimant or of his wife) incapacitated by old age or infirmity, (ii) widowed mother (of the claimant or of his wife) whether incapacitated or not or (iii) son or daughter who is resident with the claimant and upon whose services the claimant or his wife depend by reason of old age or infirmity, where the said relative, widowed mother, son or daughter, is maintained by the claimant. For qualifying premiums or policies taken out with Irish concerns after the 21st May, 1953, the allowance will amount to two-thirds of the amount of the premiums. For other qualifying premiums the allowance is one-half of the amount of the premiums. (A higher fraction applies to some policies taken out before 23rd June, 1916).

The allowance is subject to the following limitations among others:—

- (a) the total amount on which the allowance is calculated is not to exceed one-sixth of the claimant's total income for the year of the claim.
- (b) In the case of any policy securing a capital sum on death (whether in conjunction with any other benefit or not), the amount of premium in respect of which allowance is to be made is normally not to exceed 7 per cent. of that capital sum, exclusive of any additional benefit by way of bonus or otherwise.
