

Donegal Biodiversity Week Programme

Donegal is Buzzin' for Biodiversity Week!

National Biodiversity Week is from 17th – 26th May this year, spanning International Biodiversity Day on 22nd May and will be celebrated across Ireland with the collective aim of connecting people with nature. Lots of walks and talks are happening to give you a chance to experience nature and learn more about biodiversity in your neck of the woods.

Donegal County Council are hosting a few Biodiversity Week events, from an early shout on Saturday 18th May at 4.30 am to hear the dawn chorus in Ramelton, to a wonderful woodland walk through Drumboe Woods in Stranorlar at 11am. Or why not discover the nighttime wildlife at one of the many bat walks on offer from Bat Conservation Ireland or explore more at the woodland exhibition in Glenveagh National Park. For budding nature recorders there are citizen science programmes to Explore Your too.

Below are details of Donegal County Council events happening with support from the Heritage Council, through funding from the County Biodiversity Action Plan programme.
